

wisconsin's state law is much stricter than the federal regulations, works well, and should be retained. There should be no weakening of wisconsin laws relating to telephone solicitation.